Website Name: Beans and paws

description of website:
Beans and paws is a cafe where customers can enjoy fresh coffee and pastries while being in the company of cute cats with paws. The cafe focuses on getting cats adopted and supporting the cats already inside the cafe. On the website customers are allowed to view our menu and peek at pictures and descriptions of cats. They'll also be able to reserve tables and explore information about the cafe. People are also free to leave their contact details if they want to adopt a cat.

Data:
The website will store customer data such as contact details and reservation names. It will also be storing a list of menu items, small descriptions, and price. The only people who should have access to these things are the administrator (to view and change). there should be login security, but if customers are just making a one time reservation they don't need an account unless they want one.
